

---

National Skills Academy training

---

Employees, part-time or full-time.

From summer 2011 Government funded workforce development training (previously subsidised as 'Train to Gain') is focused on support for apprenticeships, training for those made redundant, leadership and management training and tailored support from one of the National Skills Academies.

Use the Business Link portal to access the contact details for the skill sector that interests you: <http://www.businesslink.gov.uk> > put 'National Skills Academy training' in the search box.

- This service is not yet fully developed so do not expect much information to be available at the moment.

